A TOUCHING BIT OF HISTORY.

REO FROM THE FIELD IT BREATHES SPIRIT OF BATTLE.

The Enemy's Description of the Gallant Death of Capt. Correll —War Poetry.

The following is a clipping from a Greensboro paper of 1863, which paper copied it from an army correspondence of the New York Tribune at the time.

The brave Confederate officer, whose gallant charge won the plaudits of a foe, was a brother of our Miss Charlotte Correll and the uncle of our young townsman, John Parke. This bit of army correspondence is not as generous as it might have been and shows how deeply rooted was the hatred and bitterness of war. That correspondent of the Tribune missed a fine opportunity for a grand magnanimity. There is no North and no South any longer, and the following correspondence and poem are published merely as curiosities, as an index of the trying times that are no more.

This is the letter:
I saw a melancholy sight a day or two since. It was that of a young Confederate officer, Captain Henry C.
Correll, from Greensboro, N. C., and captain of Company E 2nd North Carolina Regiment who fell in an attack which he had led on our batteries, Saturday evening, 14th inst. In his hand he held his sword. It was one of the old regulation swords, manufactured by Ames, at Springfield, Mass. It was marked "U. S." Also, that it was ever drawn against our country's cause. The scabbard and belt were gone flung impetuously away in that gallant but vain charge. In his pocket were a watch, his pocket book, a lock of hair, tied with a piece of white satin ribbon, and a sprig of cedar, carefully tied and inclosed in the same way as a memento. His commission was also in his pocket, and a note for $500, &c. I trust the money will be given to his heirs by those who found it, but the sword whose use was so perverted, that should remain in loyal hands forever! I send you a little poem, which was also in his pocket, and given me by those who found it, and which shows the state of feeling and the arguments used to induce enlightenment and warfare against the Union and its government. It may be worth publishing as a curiosity, and is better than most Rebel poetry.

A NORTH CAROLINA CALL TO ARMS.
Air—"The Old North State."

BY LUCIA.

Ye sons of Carolina awake from your dreaming!

The millions of Lincoln upon us are streaming!

Oh! wait not for argument, call or persuasion,

To meet at the onset this treacherous invasion!

Defend, defend, the Old North State forever.

Defend, defend, the good Old North State.

Oh! think of the maidens, the wife and the mothers,

Fly to rescue, sons, husbands and brothers.

And sink in oblivion all party and section,

Your hearthstones are looking to you for protection!

Defend, defend, the Old North State
forever, &c.

'Her name stands foremost in Liberty's story,'

Oh! tarry not her fame and her glory!
Your fathers to save her their words bravely welded,

And she never yet has to tyranny yielded.

Defend, defend, the Old North State
forever, &c.

The babe in its sweetness—the child in its beauty,

Unconsciously urge you to action and duty!

By all that is sacred, by all to you tender!

Your country adjoins, arise and defend her!

Defend, defend, the Old North State
forever, &c.

The National Eagle above us now flashing,

Will soon on the vitals of loved ones be glowing;

His talons will tear, and his beak will devour;

Oh, spurn ye his sway, and delay not an hour!

Defend, defend, the Old North State
forever, &c.

The Star Spangled Banner, dishonored is streaming

O'er bands of fanatics; their swords are now gleaming;

They think for the life-blood of those you most cherish;

With brave hearts and true then, arouse or they perish!

Defend, defend, the Old North State
forever, &c.

Round the flag of the South, eh, in thousands now rally,

For the hour's departed when freemen may rally;

Your all is at stake, then go forth, and God speed you!

And onward to glory and victory lead you!

'Hurrah! hurrah! the Old North State forever!

'Hurrah! hurrah! the good Old North State.'

With great respect we are thine.

PREPARE TO MEET YER GOD

IMPRESSIVE SERMON OF A BRIT-ISH SOLDIER ON THE FIELD.

He Came to Tell About a General Whose Army Holds the Eternal City.

Field Correspondence of the New York Sun.

He was standing at eventide facing the rough and rugged heights of Es-sela. The crimson-tinted clouds that enveloped the sky cast a ruddy radiance round his head and face, making him appear like one of those ancient martyrs one is apt to see on stained-glass windows in old world churches in Rome or Venice. His feet were firmly planted close to the graves of the British soldiers and sailors who had fallen when we beat the Boer army drove them back upon Maddar river.

In one hand he held a little, well-worn Bible; his other hand was raised high above his close-cropped head, while his voice rang out on the sultry, storm-laden air, like the clang of steel on steel.

"Prepare to meet yer God!"

"No one who looked at the neat, strong figure arrayed in the plain khaki uniform of a private soldier, at the clean-shaven, square jawed face, at the fearless gray-blue eyes, could doubt either his honesty or earnestness. Courage was imprinted by nature's never-fading hand on every lineament of his Saxon features. So might one of Cromwell's stern-browed warriors have stood on the eve of Marston Moor.

"Prepare to meet yer God!"

To the right of him the long lines of the tents spread upward toward the kopje; to the left the valley, with its wealth of gray-green grass, sown by the bounteous hand of the great harvester; all around him, excepting where the graves raised their red-brown furrows, rows of soldiers languid, lying to the old, old story of man's weakness and eternal shame, and Christ's love and everlasting pity.

On the soldier-preacher's breast, a long row of decorations gleamed, telling of honorable service to queen and country. Before a man could wear those ribbons he must have faced death as brave men face it on many a battlefield. He must have known the agonies of thirst, the dull, dead pain of sleepless nights and midnight marches; the tireless watching at the sentry's post, and the onward rush of armed men up heights almost unscalable. On Egypt's sun-scorched plains he must have faced the mad onslaughts of the Dervish hosts, and rallied with the men who held the lines at Abou Klea Wells, where gallant Burnaby was slain. The hills of Afghanistan must have re-echoed to his tread, else why the green and crimson ribbon that mingled with the rest? His eyes had flashed along the advancing lines of charging Impli, led by Zulu chiefs.
Yet never had they flashed with braver light than now, when, facing that half-mocking, half-reckless crowd, he cried:

"Prepare to meet yer God."

Rough as the thrust of a broken bayonet was his speech, unskilled in rhetoric his tongue, his periods unrounded as flying fragments of abrap-sel shell; yet all who listened knew every word came from the speaker's soul, from the magazine of truth.
Some London slum had been his cradle, the gutters of the great city the only university his feet had ever known.
The coster's dialect was native to his tongue, yet no smug churchman crowned with the laurels of the schools could so have stirred the blood of those wild lads fresh from the boundless bush and lawless mining camps beneath Australian suns.

"Prepare to meet yer God!"

And even as he spoke, who listened, plainly heard the rolling thunder of our guns as they spoke in sterner tones to the nation's foes from Modder river. It was no new figure that the soldier preacher placed before us.
It was the same indignant Christ that swept the rabble from the Temple; the same great Christ who calmly faced the seething mob in Pilate's judgment hall; the same sweet Christ who looked the babes upon His knee; the same divine Christ who, with hyssop and gall, and mingled blood and tear, passed death's dread portals on the dark brow of Calvary. The same dark figure, but quickly dressed in words that savored of the London slums, and of the soldiers' camp and yet so hedged around with earnest love and childlike faith that all its grossest everyday fall away and left us nothing but the ideal Christ.

Once more we heard the distant batteries speak whose hands had rattled grasped the empire's flag, and every rock, and hill, and crag, and stone heaved took up the echo, like a lion's roar, until the whispering wind was tremulous with sound. Then all was hushed except the preacher's voice.

"Prepare to meet yer God! I've come to tell yer all about a General whose armies hold the City of Eternal Life. If yer are wounded, throw yer rifles down, 'nd 'e will send the ambulance 's 'is love, with Red Cross angels, and 'is adjutant, whose name is Mercy, to dress yer wounds. Throw down yer rifles 'nd surrender. No rebels can enter the city of Eternal Life. You can't storm the walls, or take the gates at the point of ther bayonets, for ther ramparts are guarded by ther armies never sleep. When ther bugles sound ther last reveille you will ever 'ear, 'nd ther Colonel, whose name is Death, gives the order ther march, you'll have nothing to fear abart, if yer bandollers are full of

NOTHING OF GREAT IMPORTANCE FROM THE WAR

Response to the Offer of a War Loan Will Aggregate One Billion Dollars.

There was today in London a remarkable response to the proposal for a war loan. A competent authority estimates that the total sub scriptions will aggregate a billion dollars. He gave a report at New York, Paris, Berlin, and Frankfurt.

Additional troops, including Canadians left Cape Town for the front yesterday.

The Transvaal government has for-bidden the pumping in several gold mines which have been flooded. A Boer commander had taken up a position at Bloemfontein with a view of intercepting any British troops that might be traveling on the railway towards Mafeking or marching to Kleinsdrif.

It was stated in London today that the queen's visit to Italy was abandoned because the Home government feared for her safety, owing to a strong anarchist movement.

Lord Roberts evidently thinks the Boers are as good as whipped d. as eight divisions have been under orders to embark for several weeks. This is the first halt in re-organizing movements since the war began. Buller and Wolsey are reported as thinking no more artillery is necessary, and Roberts thinks it advisable to take no more from home than possible.

Rebels in Lady Gray districts are surrendering rifles to local field cornets. Fifty rifles have already been received, with eight thousand rounds of ammunition.

Kitchener is in Kimberly. The town guard has been formerly dismissed.

The Times correspondent at Lorenzo Marques says there is something mysterious about Joubert getting the field for the war office at Pretoria.
The most probable explanation is that he has either lost control over the Burghers or he no longer has confidence in them.

Brabant's column entered Jamestown yesterday unopposed.

Mennonites at Winnipeg last night attempted to burn the queen in effigy, but a dozen Englishmen came on the scene with rifles and declared they would fire if the effigy was lighted.
Mennonites dispersed.

We conducted the funeral exercises at the home Thursday morning and the little body was laid to rest in Hol-

Mr. Crutchfield went to Randolph a few days ago to look after farming interests.

At last reports the Yates boy who was hurt several days ago was getting along very well. We are very glad to find upon further investigation that his injuries are not so bad as first reported; there were no bones broken.
This should be a lesson to other boys.
While he thought to have the fun of sliding down the banister, yet it was a very dangerous way of having fun, and resulted in his present suffering.

Mr. and Mrs. Vancannon have moved here and are boarding at Mrs. Crutchfield's. We took a trip to High Point Wednesday night to hear the Rev. Mr.
Pearson preach. His subject was the Holy Spirit. His discourse was very plain and convincing, showing what the Holy Spirit is not and what it is.
It is a sermon that every one should hear.

Mr. Forbis expects to go to Randolph this evening to visit his daughter. He will be accompanied by Will Coffin, who also goes to visit relatives.
Bright Crutchfield, who lives in Greensboro, was out last evening to see his niece who has been sick for almost a month.

Maek Walker, of Randolph, was in the village a short time this morning.

Mrs. Charlie Gilliam came up this morning and moved her household property to Randolph.

There is some talk of the boys organizing a debating club. It is to be headed they will do so.

ENDURSES MR. MEABANE.

Essex Gives Five Reasons Why He Should Be Re-nominated.

To the Editor of the Telegram: For one I hope that the Democratic convention of Guilford county will endorse Mr. Mebane for state superintendent of public instruction, and that the state Democratic convention will renominate him for that office.

I give the following reasons:
1. Mr. Mebane is not a partisan, and has held his office above the plane of party politics.

2. He voted for Bryan and Guthrie four years ago, and that came pretty close to being a Democratic vote.

3. He is reported to have been in favor of white supremacy two years ago, and to have helped to reduce the state.

4. There is no question that he favors the constitutional amendment and is influential with that element of the Populist party that came to us in 1898, and will stand with us this year.

5. Mr. Mebane is outspoken in favor of everything that will build up the educational status of North Carolina.

At the Home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Longest, Blandwood Avenue.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Longest, on Blandwood avenue, was the scene last night of one of the most enjoyable social events of the season. The occasion was a party given by Mrs. Longest in honor of her guest, Miss Olive Guerrant, of Danville. The hours flew by on rapid wings while the invited guests made merry over social games and conversation until an inviting, seasonable and delicious course of refreshments was served.

Besides the guest of honor, Miss Guerrant, the following were present: Misses Mary Trotter, Nannie Smith, Ruby Glascock, Sallie Love, Bertha Carl, Jessie Hughes, Ethel Thomas, and Messrs. Tom Glascock, Joe Phillips, Lee Crawford, Bob Stockton, Sidney Peters, J. K. Papper and Harry Donnell.

COMING AND GOING.

Movements of People Recorded for Telegram Readers.

O. B. Kimball went up to Wilkesboro today on business.

J. D. Gaskins of Raleigh spent last night with friends in this city.

Mr. J. L. Armfield, of Jamestown, was in the city today on business.

Rev. T. C. Gurney, of Summerfield, will preach at Grace church tomorrow.

Dr. R. L. Moore spent the day at Elon college on professional business.

Prof. J. Allen Holt and R. H. Wright, of Oak Ridge, were in the city today.

R. L. Hobbs, of Guilford College, was registered at the McAdoo this morning.

Pount Knight, the popular clerk of the Farmers Warehouse, leaves today on a visit to Madison.

Little Miss Fannie Johnson, daughter of Rev. L. Johnson, returned this morning from a visit to Thomasville.

L. M. Michaux, who has been spending some time in Greensboro with relatives, left for his home in Goldsboro at noon.

Hal M. Worth left today for Washington, where he goes to assume charge of the Keeley Institute at that place.

R. I. Katz returned from New York this morning, where he has been for several weeks. His little son has been quite sick, but is improving, we are glad to state.

Rev. R. T. Wyche, who has achieved a splendid reputation as a story teller, making a specialty of talking before schools, has returned from making a tour of the eastern part of the state and will spend a few days here in recreation. He is a brother of our esteemed townsman Dr. J. E. Wyche.

The contract for the Huffines building near the depot, to be used as a hotel, was today let to J. N. Longest. Work will begin next week. Mr. Longest also has a contract to build a cottage for Mr. Huffines on Martin street.

Fruit Crop Prospects.

J. Van Lindley, perhaps the best authority in the state on such things, says that up to the present time the prospects for an abundant fruit crop this year are better than for many years past. Ordinarily peach, pear and plum trees are in full bloom by the middle of this month. Now there is hardly a sign of swelling bud anywhere.

Valuable Property Sold.

The property known as the Allen House lot was sold at auction today by John W. Fries, receiver of the South State Improvement Company. It was first put up in separate lots and the bids aggregated $5,000. It was then offered as a whole and Mr. Chas. H. Ireland was the last and highest bidder at $6,730. Mr. Ireland later sold the property to Col. A. B. Andrews at an advance on the price bid. This is a valuable piece of property, right in the heart of the city and is regarded as dirt cheap at the price paid for it.

Rece by Bloodhounds.

Chief of Police Scott went out to the county convict camp yesterday afternoon after a negro who has just completed a sentence and who is wanted in Winston on another charge, and while there was treated to the sight of bloodhound puppies chasing a man. Superintendent Bergmann has two young bloodhounds and is training them. A colored man was given about twenty minutes start of the dogs; they were then put on his track, and after chasing him about a mile they treed him, without once losing the track. They will become valuable property.

County Convention Called.

The county Democratic executive committee met in Chairman A. M. Scales' office today at noon. There was a full attendance and the meeting was enthusiastic. The committee ratified the work of the chairman and secretary and tendered them a vote of thanks for the successful conduct of the last campaign and the policy outlined so far for the coming fight. The county convention to elect delegates to the state convention was called to meet Saturday, April 7. The primaries will be held the previous Saturday, March 31.

The Ladies' Aid of Grace Church.

When Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Frank started to Japan as missionaries five or six months ago, they were requested by the Ladies Aid and Missionary Society of Grace Church to select for them a bright girl that they might educate her in the girls' school of Yokohama, Japan, preparatory to teaching the Bible to the women of that country. The little box plan was adopted for raising the funds. On opening the boxes last Monday the members were encouraged to find that they had collected in this way $54.30, considerably more than enough to support the girl for one year.

Fruit Crop Prospects.

J. Van Lindley, perhaps the best authority in the state on such things, says that up to the present time the prospects for an abundant fruit crop this year are better than for many years past. Ordinarily peach, pear and plum trees are in full bloom by the middle of this month. Now there is hardly a sign of swelling bud anywhere.

Valuable Property Sold.

The property known as the Allen House lot was sold at auction today by John W. Fries, receiver of the South State Improvement Company. It was first put up in separate lots and the bids aggregated $5,000. It was then offered as a whole and Mr. Chas. H. Ireland was the last and highest bidder at $6,730. Mr. Ireland later sold the property to Col. A. B. Andrews at an advance on the price bid. This is a valuable piece of property, right in the heart of the city and is regarded as dirt cheap at the price paid for it.

Rece by Bloodhounds.

Chief of Police Scott went out to the county convict camp yesterday afternoon after a negro who has just completed a sentence and who is wanted in Winston on another charge, and while there was treated to the sight of bloodhound puppies chasing a man. Superintendent Bergmann has two young bloodhounds and is training them. A colored man was given about twenty minutes start of the dogs; they were then put on his track, and after chasing him about a mile they treed him, without once losing the track. They will become valuable property.

County Convention Called.

The county Democratic executive committee met in Chairman A. M. Scales' office today at noon. There was a full attendance and the meeting was enthusiastic. The committee ratified the work of the chairman and secretary and tendered them a vote of thanks for the successful conduct of the last campaign and the policy outlined so far for the coming fight. The county convention to elect delegates to the state convention was called to meet Saturday, April 7. The primaries will be held the previous Saturday, March 31.

The Ladies' Aid of Grace Church.

When Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Frank started to Japan as missionaries five or six months ago, they were requested by the Ladies Aid and Missionary Society of Grace Church to select for them a bright girl that they might educate her in the girls' school of Yokohama, Japan, preparatory to teaching the Bible to the women of that country. The little box plan was adopted for raising the funds. On opening the boxes last Monday the members were encouraged to find that they had collected in this way $54.30, considerably more than enough to support the girl for one year.

BISHOP GALLOWAY'S VISIT.

WILL SPEAK IN WEST MARKET ST. CHURCH MONDAY NIGHT.

The Twentieth Century Movement—its Origin and What It Means. The Bishop as a Speaker.

In view of the coming of Bishop Charles B. Galloway, of Jackson, Miss., to our city, and as preparatory to his address, which is to be delivered in West Market Street Church on next Monday night, it will be of interest to our readers for us to restate certain facts.

What is known among the Methodists as the Twentieth Century Movement is a world-wide effort on the part of that great denomination of Christians to broaden and deepen the spiritual life of their membership, which now numbers over five million souls, and to elevate their people to a higher plane of religious life; also to stimulate them to do more for their educational work and to better equip their weaker churches, their mission stations and their schools, colleges and universities, and thereby to get ready for a great forward movement on all right lines in the coming century.

Early in November, 1897, in the mission room in London, at a committee meeting Hon. R. M. Perks, member of the British Parliament, and a Methodist of large wealth, first expressed a thought that he believed that God had given him, viz: That the Wesleyans in the next two years ought to raise a million of guineas from a million of Methodists. A guinea is five and a half dollars. This suggestion met with great favor at the time, and later it was enlarged by adding: "A million souls won to Christ by the first day of the new century, January 1st, in the year 2000."

The London Methodist Recorder published the matter, and in a short while it was taken up and adopted, in the main, by universal Methodism.

Bishop Galloway is at the head of the movement in the Methodist Episcopal Church South. He occupies a place in the front rank of Southern orators, is thoroughly informed in regard to the origin, nature and progress of the movement, and has traveled extensively in the South and North in the interest of it. He is in great demand as a speaker; is broad and catholic in his views of doctrine and polity, and is popular with all classes of people wherever he is known.

Large preparations are being made for his visit to Winston, Charlotte, Salisbury and Asheville, and we hope his address here will be heard by a larger crowd than any other place. All are invited. The spacious West Market Street Church will be thrown wide open, and we expect to see its comfortable seats all filled.

Brief Local Matters.

Beginning with tomorrow night the pastor of Washington Street church will preach a short series of sermons on "Lessons from the cross."

The stock of goods of the late firm of Smith & Murchison has been bought by M. S. Jeffries, and he will resume business at the old stand.

W. F. Clegg's horse ran away with him today and threw him from the buggy. He was only slightly injured, however, and the damage to the vehicle was trifling.

Pay Your City Taxes.

If your taxes are not paid on or before March 31, 1900, I will be compelled to advertise and sell property to satisfy the amount of taxes due on the property. As the city is in pressing need of the money, and the taxes must be paid by that time, according to the city charter.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Oliva, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest blood and nerve remedy, all pain soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs.

All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50c. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist.

We still have about fifty pairs of slightly shop-worn ladies' shoes to be closed out at and below cost.
